Gen. Sickles, new American Minister, in presenting his credentials to Marshal Serrano, said that the United States now, more than ever, appreciate the traditional amity of Spain as animated by new sympathies and a common participation in constitutional liberties. Marshal Serrano replied that the Government would endeavor to increase the amity so happily existing between the two peoples, which were bound by ancient bonds. He concluded with a tribute to Gen. [By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, August 1, 1869.

SUSPENDED.

The President has suspended from office Stewart, United States Attorney for the Northern District of Mississippi, but not for political reasons.

PRESIDENT GRANT ON THE MISSISSIPPI ELECTION.

A prominent Conservative Republican from Mississippi, had an interview with the President on Thursday, and informed the President the only desire of the Conservative Republicans was neutrality on the part of the Administration in the election. The President is represented as replying that he wished for the sucess of the party which would in good faith carry out the reconstruction acts, ratify the Fifteenth Amendment to the Constitution, and give protection to life and property in Mississippi. He wanted to know whether the former enemies of the Government were acting in good faith in their present professions of loyalty, and said this would soon be ascertained in part by the action of the Conservative Republicans in Virginia. If they were acting in good faith, he would be glad to have not only the intelligence and influence of that State but of the South generally in support of his administration. The President inquired at what time the Conservative Republicans would nominate their candidates, and when informed it would probably be about the 1st of September, he replied he would see what kind of a ticket they would put in the field and his action would be influenced more or less by subsequent events and the course of affairs in the South. He added he desired to see the payment of the public debt insured and the integrity and honor of the nation rendered inviolate, and when this was accomplished he would be satisfied.

INCOME TAX ON BONDS.

Several prominent members of Congress, recently in Washington, have expressed themselves in favor of collecting the income tax on Government bonds held in Europe, to be deducted on presentation of the coupons at the Treasury. They assert it would be just to the holders, who now pay the tax, while foreigners have thus far escaped it. A bill has already been prepared for this purpose and will be introduced immediately on the meeting of the next session.

(By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.)

NEW ORLEANS, July 31.—The Supreme Court of the State, sitting at Monroe, has rendered two decisions adverse to the power to remove officers appointed to State and other offices, which has been freely exercised by Gov. Warmouth. In the case of the Mayor of Jefferson City, the Court decides that no vacancy existed and the Governor had no power to appoint. In the case of the Parish Judge, removed by Gov. Warmouth on the ground that the incumbent had not filed the eligibility oath with the Secretary of State, and because of his alleged disfranchisement under the 14th amendment, the Court decides that the act of the Governor removing the Judge was without authority, the section of the act conferring power of removal being unconstitutional; that judges must be removed in the manner pointed out by the Constitution, and their eligibility must be determined judicially. Court orders the Judge removed by the Governor to retain his office.

KITTANING.

Kittaning M. E. Church—A Statement.

At the session of the Annual Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, held at Greensburg, Pa., in March, 1868, certain statements were made relative to the Rev. M. W. Dallas, and were freely circulated among some of the ministers composing that body, and also found their way into the Bishop's Cabinet, and were there received as facts, as such acted upon, and finally proved the means of the removal of Mr. Dallas from this "charge," upon which he was then stationed, having just closed his first conference year.

These reports were manufactured and carried to Conference by certain parties, who were on unfriendly terms with Mr. Dallas, and, it is needless to say, were utterly untrue.

The session of Conference being near its close at the time these reports or statements were laid before the Cabinet, there was neither time nor means at hand to refute them, and Mr. Dallas was compelled to suffer the outrage in silence, without explanation on the part of the authorities, and without the means of redress on his part.

This circumstance very naturally gave rise to much feeling and indignation on the part of the congregation, particularly as they desired and expected his return to labor with them another year. Indeed, so certain were they of his return, that a petition, which had been prepared, requesting Conference to return him, bearing a long list of signatures, was laid aside as quite unnecessary, there being no dissenting voices.

The effect of such reports and his removal could not be otherwise than highly detrimental to his character and reputation as a minister, and in consideration of this the membership of this charge determined to correct the wrongs inflicted, most unjustly, upon a man whom they highly esteemed, as far as it lay in their power to do so, by laying before Conference at its next session such a statement of facts as in their opinion was necessary to a full, clear and correct understanding of the whole case.

In pursuance of this determination such statement was prepared and signed by at least two-thirds of the membership, and corroborated by an additional paper to the same purport, gotten up and signed by about seventy persons of standing and responsibility in the community, and who had no membership connection with the Church, most effectually refuting the base charges in toto.

This paper (and the other also, as we have learned) was sent to Conference, then sitting at New Philadelphia, Ohio, in March last, and addressed to the Bishop in person. Its only object was simply to place Mr. Dallas right in the sight of Conference and in the estimation of the public, by removing any false impression made by the pernicious charges; and was laid before the Bishop with the simple request to have it read in the hearing of Conference, in order that the refutation might be as public as were the charges.

For some reason this request was not complied with. We have it from no less direct authority than some of the members of the Cabinet themselves, who say that the paper was not laid before that body for inspection, nor did they ever hear of it. Where did these papers go? What disposition was made of them? We do not understand it to be the duty of the Presiding Bishop at the Annual Conference to destroy or suppress, at his discretion, written communications from the membership of any charge in the Conference, and addressed "To the Bishop and his Cabinet," without consulting at least the Presiding Elder of the "District" from which the communication comes, or the preacher stationed on the particular "charge," or both.

It certainly is the privilege and the duty of both these latter to know all, of this nature, that takes place within their respective territorial bounds. Simple courtesy, if nothing else, would suggest that their attention be called to communications of this nature. What was done in this instance? Was the document, after being received and opened by the Bishop, hastily glanced at, and, having seen the place whence it came and its import, handed over to the Presiding Elder, or to the Preacher in charge, and then by either or both of them, after having consulted with other parties, disposed of in some mysterious manner? Or did the Bishop take the liberty of disposing of it on his own responsibility as he thought proper, without showing it to any one? How is this? This is an important question to the parties concerned and needs explanation. We know not how this affair was accomplished and are therefore unable to say. One thing, however, is evident, and that is that this paper, which should at least have come before the Cabinet, in order that it might be passed upon by the proper tribunal, was smuggled out of the way by somebody and never after permitted to see the light!

What peculiar interests of the church called forth such a proceeding as this we are at a loss to conceive. Certainly no ordinary interests of the church or the people required it. Had the paper in question been presented before the proper authorities, and after examination been laid upon the table for judicious reasons, and so stated, we would have no word of complaint. But when we find the church authorities receiving the simple assertion, unsustained, of two or three persons, as sufficient evidence on which to remove a minister in good standing, of unimpeachable character, and known by the Conference for a score of years, and the same authorities rejecting the solemn statement upon paper, signed by their own hands, of a large majority of the membership of the charge, and this statement corroborated by nearly a hundred outsiders, made and intended to correct an error made by the church authorities themselves, and to restore to his former standing a man shamefully wronged, we must confess that we fail to discover any cause which we can possibly assign in justification of the proceedings, and we believe it is without a parallel in the history of the church!

This statement is prepared now, (after some necessary delay to ascertain truly the facts,) with the same design as was the former one, viz: to lay before the public, as well as the membership in general, the circumstances as they exist, to the end that justice, full and ample, may be done to the injured party through this means, since it has been sought in vain through the ordinary channels within the church. THE MEMBERSHIP.

BEAUTIFUL RAIN.

BY STEPHEN MASSETT.

Messrs. Editors: So much has been written, said and sung about the poem called "Beautiful Snow," that I think "The Rain" has been left out in the cold. In the following exquisite stanzas I have endeavored to do slight (English sleet) justice to this much abused and grossly slighted commodity. Doubtless, as was the case with "Beautiful Snow," there will be numbers of adopters, adapters, imitators and claimants. To all I would now say, distinctly and definitely, that the words are not copyrighted; and are the original composition of "Jeemes Pipes, of Pipesville," and composed at Peekskill, N. Y., July 9, 1869:

Oh, the rain, the beautiful rain,
Falling alike on hill, dale and plain;
Over the turnip-tops, 'taters and leeks,
Over the butchers' carts, all full of meats—
Pouring,
Whirling,
Rushing along.
Beautiful rain! come down so strong,
Rubbing the paint off a lady's cheek,
Making her give an inward shriek—
Beautiful rain from the heavens above—
Come out of it quick or you'll catch cold, my love!

Oh, the rain, the beautiful rain!
Dashing against the window-pane,
Coming down its drenching fun;
It soaks the pedestrians every one,
Wheezing,
Sneezing,
Coughing by—
It moistens the nose and bungs up the eye;
And even the ducks, with a quack and a bound,
Dash into puddles from the dusty ground;
The people are rushing to catch the train,
To get out of the damp of "beautiful rain."

How the wild crowd goes swearing along,
Because they left their umbrellas at home,
How the gay "Grecian benders" like meteors flash by,
Drenched to the skin; but between you and I,
They ain't singing,
Nor swinging,
But dragging their train
Over dirty pavements soaked with rain—
Rain so pure when it falls from the sky
Right into big water butts, by and by;
And the youngsters are whacked for getting wet feet
Or playing with boats in the horrible street.

Once I went out in the rain, and I fell—
Fell like the rain drops—into a well;
Fell to be cramped in my stomach, my feet;
Fell several feet, till I felt dead beat—
Bleeding,
Swimming,
Heaving a sigh
(Only I couldn't be heard, by the by),
I'd have given my head for a morsel of bread,
For I realized my friends thought me "very dead,"
Messrs. Moses & Sons, I thought of in vain,
For a waterproof overcoat to keep out the rain.

Once, I went to a Fair—in the beautiful rain,
And made love to a girl, in a shady lane,
And I kissed her—I did—and her name was "Grace,"
And for it I got a slap in the face.
Father,
Mother,
Sisters, all
Said I deserved it as much as my fall!
And I felt like some wretch that goes shivering by
Or a very small sweep in a chimney high,
For, of all that was on or about me 'twas plain,
There was nothing—that had not been soaked by the rain!

It is not at all strange, that this beautiful rain
Should fall on several sinners, both handsome and plain;
It is not all strange, when the night comes again
It should rain quite as hard on my desperate brain.
Panting,
Ringing wet,
Drying—alone.
Quite too wet for my prayer. Two weeks for my moan,
That can't be heard in the splash of the crazy town;
Gone mad in its joy at the rain coming down;
While I lie in a night gown made of muslin d'laine,
Coolly tucked up in bed—out of the "beautiful rain!"

—A young man named Joe. White, went to see his lady-love in South Nashville, on Sunday week. She was sewing, he attempted to kiss her, when by accident, her needle penetrated his breast, punctured his heart and inflicted a fatal wound. COUNT DE CHATEAUVILLARD, who has died in Paris, was in his day one of the most brilliant men and dashing equestrians of France. It was he who one day rode up the steps of the Jockey Club (then at the corner of the Rue Drouot and Boulevard) and played a game of billiards on horseback. He rode for some time a most vicious horse. A friend said: "If you ride that horse three months longer, I'll bet he kills you." The Count replied: "What do you bet?" "Twenty-five thousand francs." "Taken." The Count felt in honor bound to his friend to ride the horse every day, and the horse showed himself to be so very vicious that the Count had his coffin made and sent home, for he was sure he would require it before long. His wife, (who had long been extremely uneasy lest his horse should kill him), seeing her husband look upon the horse as dangerous, as she herself considered him, no sooner saw the coffin placed in her husband's dressing-room, than she went to the stable, armed with a pair of pistols, and shot the dangerous steed through the head. On one occasion the Count was asked by a friend, a Marquise, to see her to her carriage. They were at a ball. Going down stairs somebody trod on her dress and tore it. she asked for a pin. The count took from his scarf a diamond pin, worth $600 and presented it to her. She declined, saying: "Oh, Count, it is entirely too valuable." "Is that the only objection to the pin?" "Certainly." This word was no sooner out of the Marquise's mouth than he broke off the diamond, threw it out of the neighboring window, and gave the golden pin to her.

A VIENNA correspondent, writing on the 5th inst., says: "A new and very important institution has just been created here under the name of the Reichsgericht, or State Court of Appeal. This court, the members of which are selected from the most eminent men in Austria, is to decide all cases of conflict between the people and the authorities on questions of constitutional right. The infallibility of the official; which has hitherto been a state maxim in Austria, has by this measure been abolished, and every Austrian citizen who considers that his political rights are interfered with by the administration can now appeal to the Reichsgericht for redress. The function of the Reichsgericht is, in fact, to maintain the constitution inviolate, and to secure to the Austrian people the full enjoyment of the rights it confers upon them.

Entombment of a Cat.

A curious incident has occurred in New York. A few days ago, while workmen were constructing the iron front of a new building at No. 49 Walker street, a cat by some means crawled into the hollow part of the iron girder which forms the base of the front. The workmen heard the cat, but paid no attention to its cries, and the work proceeded, thus entombing the cat.

The fact was reported to the society for the Prevention of Cruelty of Animals, by whom, it is reported, the builders were ordered to release the cat, even if it became necessary to take down the entire front to accomplish it. The front had been erected as far as the fourth story by this time, and the matter began to wear a serious as well as an expensive aspect.

There was no alternative but to comply with the orders, and men were yesterday set to work to release the animal. It was found necessary to remove a small part of the side wall into which the girder was inserted, and then chisels and sledge-hammers were brought into requisition, and a hole sufficiently large made to enable the cat to crawl through. The cat, which was very thin and weak, the result of its long confinement, seemed greatly pleased, judging from its actions, in escaping from the living tomb.

Advantage to Women of Wearing Men's Clothes.

Not long since a young man was taken dangerously ill, here in New York, at night. He was alone with his sister, and she was obliged to go, after twelve o'clock, for a physician. She trembled at the thought, and her brother resolved again and again to bear the pain until morning, but at last they felt she must go. The happy thought suggested itself to put on her brother's clothes, and take his loaded pistol; the result was, that she brought back the physician, and he never knew, until he reached the house and she told him, that she was a woman. She said she had such a feeling of independence and safety as she passed men and women in the dark streets, that she immediately prepared a complete suit to wear whenever she sees fit. Thus armed and equipped she takes evening walks, goes to church, lectures, the theater, and when in the country, roams alone by day and night. Unfortunately, the law forbids woman thus to protect herself.—From the Revolution.

Lack of a Useful Manufacture.

It is a remarkable fact, and one which shows how dependent a large portion of the South has hitherto been upon the mechanical superiority of the North, that there is not a paper mill either in Louisiana, Texas or Mississippi. Newspapers, however, are quite numerous, and in New Orleans alone over six thousand pounds of paper are used daily for printing purposes. Perhaps it may be regarded as an indication of the new spirit of enterprise which has obtained a hold in that section since the war, that at last an effort is to be made to start a paper manufacturing company. The citizens of New Orleans are called upon to subscribe for the stock, and, the interest of the press being enlisted, there is no doubt that the enterprise will soon be started on a favorable basis. The material for the manufacture of paper can be obtained there at the minimum price, and it would seem that, with even ordinary skill in the management of the business, it might be made profitable.

Short-Sighted Compositors.

Dr. Kohn, of Breslau, a famous German oculist, has been examining the condition of the eyes of night compositors, and found that the predominating tendency is to short-sightedness, which is more noticeable the longer the occupation is followed. Of one hundred and thirty compositors coming under his notice sixty-eight, or 51.5 per cent., were short-sighted. Of the sources of artificial light, oil lamps were found to be far more detrimental to the eyes than gas flames, but less injurious as regards the amount of heat given out. Dr. Kohn recommends flames protected by glass chimneys, shades arranged to throw more light on the cases, and the discarding of small type in night work. Dr. Kohn is the same oculist who published statistics in reference to the loss of sight among metal workers, and recommended the use of mica spectacles to shield the eyes from the intense heat and the flying particles of forges.

How to Observe the Eclipse.

Take a large card with a small round hole in the centre, and hold it against the sun's rays, so that the shadow will fall on the floor, pavement, wall or other dark and smooth surface. In the middle of the shadow there will be a true image of the sun, and the eclipse can be studied in its progress without straining the eyes, and without smutting face or hands with smoked glass.

This simple process was suggested by the familiar circumstance that the light spots in the shadows during a solar eclipse, take the shape of the luminous portions of the sun's disc; and the perforated card has been used with perfect success.

THE Grandes Eaux, the magnificent fountain of Versailles, surpassess anything of the kind in the world. It plays only on Sundays. The basin is about an acre in extent, and is semi-circular in form. Groups of statuary, representing Neptune and Amphitrite, and various marine monsters, dragons and cupids occupy its inner surface. A number of large vases are in the summit of the well. The water is projected through the statuary and vases. When the water is first thrown into the air it is illuminated by the electric light and by lights of different colors, after which fireworks are thrown into the basin, which, floating upon the surface, explode, sending up myriads of serpents and balls of fire. After this are thrown up from various parts of the basin jets of fire, contrasting beautifully with the jets of water, and the whole is concluded by a cascade of fire along the whole length of the basin.

IN a review of a book of travel by an American author, the Saturday Review observes: "We are constantly remined how much purer English is spoken and written by Americans than by ourselves. It behooves us, therefore, to take heed of such casual lessons as may enable us to bring up our notions of what is correct or chaste in style to the level of the latest and best trans-Atlantic standard. We are grateful for any hints which a visitor so recent and so vivacious as our author has to bring to bear upon our old fashioned diction." The Review is the last English paper we should look to for an admission that anything good could come out of America.

CONTINUES TO TREAT ALL
private diseases, Syphilis in all its forms, urinary diseases, and the effects of mercury completely eradicated; Spermatorrhea or Seminal Weakness and Impotency, resulting from self-abuse or other causes, and which produce some of the following effects, as blotches, loss of weakness, indigestion, consumption, aversion to society, unmanliness, dread of future events, loss of memory, indolence, nocturnal emissions, and finally so prostrating the sexual system as to render marriage unsatisfactory, and therefore imprudent, are permanently cured. Persons afflicted with these or any other delicate, intricate or long standing constitutional complaint should give the Doctor a trial; he never fails.
A particular attention given to all Female complaints, Leucorrhea or Whites, Falling, Inflammation or Ulceration of the Womb, Ovarian pruritis, Amenorrhoea, Menorrhagia, Dysmenorrhoea, and sterility or Barrenness, are treated with the greatest success.
It is self-evident that a physician who confines himself exclusively to the study of a certain class of diseases and treats thousands of cases every year must acquire greater skill in that specialty than one in general practice.
The Doctor publishes a medical pamphlet of fifty pages that gives a full exposition of venereal private diseases, that can be had free at office or by mail for two stamps, in sealed envelope. Every sentence contains instruction to the afflicted, and enabling them to determine the precise nature of their complaints.
The establishment, comprising ten splendid rooms, is central. When it is not convenient to visit the city, the Doctor's opinion can be obtained by giving a written statement of the case, and medicines can be forwarded by mail or express. In some instances, however, a personal examination is absolutely necessary, which others daily personal attention is required. Rooms for the accommodation of such patients, their apartments connected with the office that are provided with every requisite that is calculated to promote recovery, including medicated vapor baths. All prescriptions are prepared in the Doctor's own laboratory, under his personal supervision. Medical pamphlets at office free, or by mail for two stamps. No matter who has failed, read what he says. Hours 9 A. M. to 8 P. M. Sundays 12 M. to 2 P. M. Office, No. 9 WOOD STREET, (near Court House,) Pittsburgh.

PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, July 31, 1869.

GENERAL REVIEW.

The market has been comparatively quiet during the past week the volume of business having been rather light, while in regard to prices there have been no important changes. The feeling during the past three days has been rather weak and both Crude and Refined are a shade lower, and as the former is much higher, relatively, than the latter, it is altogether probable that there will be a lull while the present inequality in prices continues. That there will have to be a change in this respect is evident, and the sooner the better for all concerned.

Receipts Crude this week, 11,738 bbls; last week, 18,506; from January 1st to date, 465,179; same time last year, 662,147. Exports Refined, this week, 18,329 bbls; last week, 19,032; from January 1st to date, 285,273; same time last year 347,031. Sales this week 64,640; last week 57,400.

CRUDE.

The Crude market notwithstanding it is a shade lower, is still nevertheless pretty stiff, and there is not much offering. Sale 1,000 spot at 14¾; 1,000 this water at 14¾; and 1,000 spot at 15. It is but proper to note that this last sale was made to an operator who was "short" and it being the only lot of spot oil offering, and the last day of grace, he was forced to like it—and, if he could have done no better, he would have paid 16; consequently, 15 cents cannot be fairly regarded as the standard price, as there were no other buyers at anything over 14¾, and but very few at that.

REFINED

Sale of two lots of 1,000 each spot at 31½; and 1,500 spot at 31¾. August last half, 32@32½; and lines for last three, and five months, 32¾@33. As will be seen, spot oil is a fraction higher than yesterday, while "futures" remain unchanged.

GRANT'S famous motto "Let us have peace" did not contemplate the kind of P's the Democratic party have put forward.

WALLACE, the Democratic chieftain, thinks there are no grounds for his party to work on since the passage of the Registry Act—coffee grounds we presume he means.

THE opposition press revives the old report that Attorney General HOAR is to be succeeded by Judge BREWSTER. They insist that this arrangement was recently made at Long Branch.

THE election in Kentucky to-day is likely to show a light poll, and three votes out of four Democratic. A State Treasurer and Legislature are to be chosen.

Alabama elects Congressmen and a Legislature to-morrow, and Tennessee follows with her State election on Thursday.

IT IS proposed to hold an international exposition of the arts at Washington. No higher triumph of art can be imagined than would be a successful undertaking of this sort, and at that point. The special attractions would certainly be very great, which could induce all the world and his wife to make a visit to that unadmirable city.

IT IS said all the men in the employ of the Erie Railway are organizing for a general strike, to secure an advance of wages to the rates from which they were reduced two years since. A general suspension of operations on the extended line of that road would cause great inconvenience to travellers who should be overtaken by it, and the public will therefore do well to be on the look out.

A WASHINGTON dispatch says:

Thomas L. Tullock, Appointment Clerk in the Treasury Department, was to-day appointed by the President Collector of Internal Revenue for the District of Columbia, in the place of Flint, deceased.

The new appointee was prominently active in the abortive movement of some weeks since, the ostensible purpose of which was to bring out Secretary BOUTWELL as a Presidential candidate.

OUR Ohio neighbors are industrious in organizing railway companies, but are doing little in the way of actual construction. The Pittsburgh, Mount Vernon, Columbus and London project is to supply a connection between Millersburgh and London in Ohio. Another road is projected from Salem to Bayard, thence by New Philadelphia to Urichsville, connecting with the "Panhandle" at the latter point. The effort to procure a more direct railway connection between Cleveland and Zanesville seems to be abandoned. Work is not yet commenced on the line from Dresden to Zanesville. The company which was organized for a road from Coshocton to Mount Vernon has been dissolved.

THERE are intimations that General SHERMAN does not concur in the policy of General CANEY in Virginia. We are quite sure that the former will carefully avoid any course which could be at variance with the legislation under which the military command in Virginia is administered, but we are not so confident that the discretion of the General-in-Chief would always be found to be in harmony with radical Republican aims. We can easily imagine a position of affairs in which the influence of SHERMAN would be exerted in favor of a Conservative policy. It may therefore be considered fortunate that specific legislation provides but one course in the present case—that which General CANEY legally pursues.

THE Democratic State Committee has found a Chairman at last, in Mr. William Muchler, of Easton, a confidential friend of Mr. Packer. The position had been previous declined by Mr. Galbraith, of Erie, and Mr. F. T. Hughes, of Schuylkill. It would have been at any time accepted by Mr. S. J. Randall, of Philadelphia, had the personal feelings of Messrs. Buckalew and Cassidy permitted of the tender. Mr. Muchler is said to have all the qualifications of a political Caleb Quotem. He was an old Whig, then turned Democrat, then, by slightly Johnsonizing, secured place as Assessor of Revenue in the XIth District; is a lawyer, and belongs to Mr. Packer's railway ring. He has also been a Prothonotary, perhaps of the Snowden school. With a few lessons in the coffee-pot business, from his predecessor, no one will doubt his qualifications for his present place.

THE VARIOUS Committees, having in charge the preparations for the Humboldt centennial celebration, have effected their organizations and are now ready for active work. In view of the fame of HUMBOLDT and the innumerable benefits which he conferred on his fellowmen by his scientific labors, and indeed for the credit of our city, we hope the celebration will be in every way successful. Money is needed to pay the expenses and for the monument; we hope the Finance Committee will find no difficulty in securing all that is required. But, besides money, it is also necessary that our people should take a lively personal interest in the affair, contributing their presence and influence to the concert, the festival and the procession. Societies of all natures will doubtless be invited to take part in the latter; their acceptance would swell the parade into a demonstration worthy of the great memory to be honored.

HON. ISAAC TOUCEY, who was Secretary of the Navy under Mr. BUCHANAN, died at Hartford on the 30th. His official career was such as to identify him in the most effective sympathies with the treasonable purposes of the Secessionists. In this respect, he was properly considered a fair representative of that Democratic opinion which still holds to the unconstitutionality of the war for the suppression of the rebellion. Expelled, in 1861, from an official trust which no subsequent revelations have satisfied his countrymen that he had not betrayed, he has since lived in a retirement to which the public respect has not followed him. Whether justly or unjustly, he has not only borne the odium properly merited by his official misconduct, but he has also been regarded as a scape-goat for the sins of his party. Mr. TOUCEY, in or out of office, was no worse and no better than any "other Old Hunker Democrat" in the party which survives him. In Pennsylvania, as in Connecticut, there are many politicians of that school still living and claiming public influence, who, in Secretary Toucey's place, would have been guilty of an equal treachery to a free American people. Mr. ASA PACKER, for example, would have placed himself, as did Toucey, at the side of James Buchanan, and against the undivided Union.

THE PRISON AND THE PARK.

The Western Penitentiary, located in Allegheny, is too small to accommodate all of the criminals who are sent there. Large additions have frequently been made to the buildings, but it is still overcrowded, and there is very little, if any room left for further growth. This prison was built to be conducted on the, so-called, Pennsylvania system of solitary confinement; each cell is of size and shape only calculated for the inmate, yet at present many cells have to serve for two, thus, partially at least, abandoning the solitary system. Supposing even that, as is very probable, the Legislature should conclude to adopt the congregate-system for the various state prisons, the Western Penitentiary could not, without gross inhumanity, be made to accommodate more convicts than it does at present, whereas the yearly number of criminals naturally increases as the population of this section of the State becomes more dense. When the Commonwealth proposed to erect a prison in the Western end of the State, Allegheny, then a small borough, gave a part of her common grounds as a site for the new buildings, imagining that in some way so large a public institution ought to result to her advantage. In this, we think, the result has been a disappointment, and now, when the Commons are to be made beautiful, it is found that the great blank stone walls of the prison are an eyesore and an obstruction.

In view of these facts, it has been suggested to us that as, sooner or later, the State must provide at some other place accommodations for her surplus of criminals, it would be well for the city of Allegheny to endeavor to induce the entire removal of the Penitentiary from its present site, to be rebuilt increased in size, in some more rural situation. Doubtless, in time, this could be accomplished, and the land would probably revert to the city, either to become a portion of the Park or to be used as the site of public buildings, more congenial to the surroundings than those which at present occupy it.

It has also been suggested to us that, in case the removal of the Penitentiary should be accomplished, and the city should not deem it desirable to turn all this land into Park, it would be a noble use for it to give the whole or part of it to the Western University, conditioned, of course, on the erection of handsome buildings, whose style of architecture should harmonize with the plans of the landscape-gardeners and engineers, who have in charge the improvement of the common grounds.

We respectfully recommend these suggestions to the authorities and citizens of Allegheny, feeling sure that they are worthy of consideration and discussion.

UNIVERSAL SUFFRAGE.

Among large classes of people exceedingly false conceptions prevail as to the nature and limitations of what is understood by the phrase "imperial government." The impression is entertained that such government is dependent primarily, if not exclusively on the will of one man; than which nothing is more misleading. If there ever was a period or country in which the rule of a single individual was maintained, that country or period must have been shrouded in a denser intellectual and moral darkness than any of which adequate knowledge now exists. Even in the most barbarous times and among the most abject populations, the wills of despots are always modified and restrained by what is correctly denominated public sentiment. In proportion as education is diffused does this restraining and modifying power increase until it gains a practical, if not a formal ascendancy. Latterly in most of the monarchies, whether imperial or restricted, of Continental Europe, the principle of Universal Suffrage has been acknowledged and applied, and the result has been, notwithstanding the influence of governmental patronage and traditional respect for particular classes or families, that the will of the people has found expression and enforced obedience from the rulers.

The present Emperor of the French, for some years after he ascended the throne, was as absolute as it was possible for any ruler to be under the circumstances by which he was surrounded. Imperialism was strengthened by the concurrence of the intellectual and wealthy classes. A wholesome dread of anarchy and bloodshed, so often witnessed during the upheavals of French society, induced most men who had special risks in the maintenance of order, to do all they could to reinforce the authority of the throne. Even the military spirit of the nation, finding expression through the army, co-operated to the same end. Set up in virtue of Universal Suffrage, and sustained by the consent of a large majority of the people, the throne of NAPOLEON III. was imperial more in form than in substance. It is quite probable that prevailing fears of the renewal of former violences and massacres, called for and justified a government much more repressive than was actually needed to ensure domestic tranquility; but such fears were on the side of genuine prudence; and with their subsidence it could not happen otherwise than that the seeming authority of the monarch should be abridged, and the manifest privileges of the people correspondingly enlarged.

These are the processes now going on in France, and which are attracting attention, to a marked degree, throughout the civilized world. Interpreted into ordinary speech, the popular demands for parliamentary or responsible government mean that the fears of the prudent and thoughtful have been appeased by the silent but healthful development of political principles. The ballot in the hands of each man on whom the burdens of the State are laid, has become a guaranty against the repetition of disorders which are remembered only with horror. On the basis of equality of political rights has been reared a barrier against tumultuary demonstrations, so that they no longer haunt the imagination, compelling acquiescence in any adjustment of power by which they can be prevented.

The attitude of the Emperor shows that he comprehends the situation, and feels that resistance by him to the popular will would not only be unavailing, but would result in the demolition of his throne and the expulsion of his dynasty. If the crown rests on his head, he understands that it is there not as a sign of his personal prerogatives, but as the symbol of the majesty of the people and of his duties as the head of the nation. Several considerations may conspire to make him reluctate at the inevitable necessity which presses upon him. There is much in a name, though the contrary is often maintained. It is something to have nothing, or little as possible, between himself and the masses of the people, to be in appearance the sole exponent of that popular will which he dares not resist, and which would hurl him into obscurity if he should throw himself across its path. But there can be no doubt as to what he will ultimately do. He will take care to ascertain how far popular government has become a necessity with the people or with the more influential and competent classes; and he will neither peril his own position nor the repose of the nation by an obstinate refusal to concede what he cannot withhold.

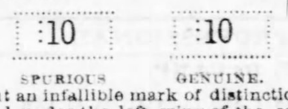
In Pennsylvania, the Democrats, less wise than their associates in some of the States, deny that the true basis of Government is universal suffrage. They make no secret of their determination to perpetually exclude certain elements of the population from representation. Nor does the fact that in some vast districts this element is a majority of the whole people, deter them from a policy of proscription. French Imperialists have found out that the admission of all to an equal participation in primary political authority, is indispensable to the avoidance of that dissatisfaction and unrest which puts in jeopardy the security of the whole; while Pennsylvania Democrats have taken up the ideas and methods which Imperialists everywhere, in conformity to a growing popular sentiment, have found it necessary to discard. Imperialism makes haste to recognize and respect the increasing liberalism of the age, which is the ripe product of religion and philosophy happily at agreement; while Pennsylvania Democracy vaunts its denial of absolute and inalienable political rights and its disposition to subordinate one class of inhabitants to another, as the best foundation for safety, happiness and progress

CITY AND SUBURBAN.

New Counterfeits—Look Out for Them.

A very dangerous counterfeit ten dollar United States greenback has been put in circulation in the eastern market, and on Saturday one of them was detected at a bank in this city. The following is a good description of the bogus bill.

The borders of the counterfeits match as well as the borders of the original paper. The engraving of the border is just as good if not better than the engraving on the genuine notes. In the original the shading around the 10 in the medallion appears like a fine net-work, and runs close up to the figures. In the counterfeit note this shading is "picked up," and becomes coarse as it reaches the figures, forming a light streak or circular haze similar to that about the moon before rain. There is no haze in the genuine note. This is a slight point for detection. A clearer one is the fact that, in the original notes, within the light circle running under the figures 10, there are three and a third dots on the left of the figure 1. In the counterfeit bill the one-third dot is missing. The following diagrams will explain the difference:



SPURIOUS GENUINE.

But an infallible mark of distinction is found under the left wing of the eagle. In the genuine notes are four distinct rows of feathers under the wing. In the counterfeits these rows of feathers are undefined, and this seems to be the only weak spot in the whole engraving.

The dots after the initials of Spinner's name are no surety of the genuineness of the note. Some of the counterfeits have these dots, and some have not. It would be an easy matter to place these dots on the counterfeit plate.

The first counterfeit purported to be of the new series, No. 53, letter D, but there are others. It is rumored that Mr. Spinner will order the destruction of the original plates and the issue of new notes, but we have no positive information on this point. One thing is certain. If those receiving $10 notes will submit them to the test described above they may be confident of safety.

Emancipation Anniversay.

Yesterday was the 35th anniversary of the abolishment of slavery by England. In days of yore, when our own soil was yet stained with the awful institution, the free negro regarded the anniversary with that patriotic devotion which causes Americans to turn aside to pay special reverence to the day set apart to commemorate that on which independence was born. Since, however, a grander deed has been performed and entered the world's history, and made immortal the name of Abraham Lincoln. Conditional emancipation in England dims in lustre before the philanthropic act which at one fell blow wiped slavery in the United States for ever and ever out of existence. However, our colored citizens will celebrate to-day in token of gratitude towards progressive England, who led the example our country was painfully slow to follow. With gladder hearts, purer patriotism, nobler feelings, they will keep this anniversary in the old fashioned manner, and to day the woods and wilds will ring with the merry voices of a united, free and contented people, who have forgotten in their joys to sing "one song for the old Kentucky home," with its auction blocks, its chains. its whipping posts, its unhappiness and sorrow.

An Alliance Elopement.

A fascinating young lady, of Alliance, Ohio, came to Pittsburgh a short time ago on a pleasure visit among friends. She had left behind her in Alliance, an importunate lover, who, though worthy her hand, could not impress the fact upon her parents. To insure his happiness he had but one policy to pursue and that was to assume no risk in Ohio by pressing his suit, but to follow the object of his affections into Pennsylvania, where neither parents, nor laws, nor licenses were hindrances to a union. He arrived here, put up at a hotel, ordered a hack and drove to the house where the young lady was visiting. He soon returned to the hotel with his intended bride, sent for a preacher and his happiness was made complete. He drove his bride back to her friends, and returning to the hotel settled his bill and departed, the whole transaction consuming hardly an hour's time. The young folks intend to keep the wedding a profound secret until the parents' consent can be obtained, and then the grand denouement will take place. We hope we have not developed the secret, as of course Alliance readers can't guess who they were, and the papers there should not re-publish the pleasant little romance.

The Mayor's Office.

Following is a statement of the business at the Mayor's office during the last month:

Drunkenness, 241; disorderly conduct, 155; vagrancy, 22; informations, 62; total, 431. Of the above there were fifty-nine cases discharged.

The receipts for the month were as follows: Fines, $1,382 10; pawnbrokers, $100; night police, $235 50; jail receipts, $180; dramatic license, $50; Wilkin's Hall, $75; switch license, $75; total, $2,097 60.

There were seventeen persons fined during the month for selling liquor on Sunday, the fines amounting to $850. This sum was equally divided between the Guardians of the Poor and the informers according to law.

The annexed table shows the amount of business during the last six months:

	Fines.		Pawnbrk's.		Night Police.		Jail Rec'ts.		Dramatic.		Switch.		Total.
February	$1,028	60	100		180	35	...		100		75		1,483	95

Under the head of switch license $175 is included for rent from Wilkins Hall. During the six months ending July 31st, there were fifty-eight persons fined for selling liquor on Sunday, netting $2,900, of which sum one-half went to the Guardians of the Poor and the other half to the informers.

Struck With a Cinder.

Yesterday afternoon John Kelley, a resident of "Limerick," in Monongahela borough, while under the influence of liquor, became angered at Thomas Kine, a boy about fourteen years of age, and attempted to lay hold of him. Kine broke away, but finding himself pursued, picked up a large cinder from one of the furnaces of a mill near by and threw it at Kelley. The missile struck the pursuer on the side of the head above the ear and inflicted a deep gash about four inches in length, from which the blood flowed freely. Kelly upon being struck fell to the ground, but was carried to his residence in the vicinity, and a physician summoned who dressed the wound. The injury though painful, is not considered dangerous, and the patient with care is expected to recover.

Undesirable Immersion.

To be ducked in a tub of hot soap suds is not a very desirable method of immersion, and it is not surprising that the victim of such a procedure should feel aggrieved, as did Mrs. Mary Campbell, who complained before Alderman McMasters that Edward Tague had so treated her on Saturday. She stated that while engaged in washing, Edward, in an intoxicated condition, came into the yard where she was, and ducked her head two or three times in the hot soap suds, while at the same time he relieved her of her pocktbook containing five dollars. The magistrate upon hearing this statement, issued a warrant for the arrest of Edward, whose ducking propensities are likely to receive a check.

Dedicatory.

The handsome new edifice erected for the use of the First United Presbyterian Congregation, Allegheny, Rev. J. T. Pressly, pastor, on Union avenue, was dedicated with appropriate religous exercises yesterday. The venerable pastor preaching in the morning, followed by the Rev. A. D. Clark in the afternoon, and the Rev. D. R. Kerr, D. D., in the evening. The auditorium of the church which is one of the largest in the city, was crowded by the congregations assembled at each service.

The building is one of the most costly and handsome specimens of church architecture in our vicinity, and speaks volumes in praise of the liberality and enterprise of the people by whose exertions it was erected.

Sour Grapes.

Yesterday a number of scrapegraces entered a yard on Penn street, near Garrison's alley, and plucked about a bushel of green grapes from the vines, grown over the arbor on the premises. They seemed to have no other idea in view than pure maliciousness, as the grapes were strewn upon the sidewalk as fast as plucked from the vines. Officer Mulvaney observed the boys and succeeded in arresting one of them, Patrick Call, aged about ten years. The lad was locked up in a cell a few hours and then released with a severe reprimand from the Mayor.

Newspaper Office Burglarized.

Some daring burglars made the Commercial counting room the scene of their operations at an early hour yesterday morning. They effected an entrance through a room in the rear, and broke open a small safe which, however, had not been in use and contained nothing to reward their pains. They paid some attention also to the large safe but made no headway there, and departed, doubtless disgusted at their ill luck and determined not again to attempt burglarizing a newspaper office.

Alleged Forger.

Saturday afternoon S. McClean, Jr., of S. McClean & Co., made information before Mayor Brush, charging James Hays with forgery. It is alleged that the accused forged the endorsement of James Mitchell and William Dilworth to a note for $317,25, payable in ninety days to James Mitchell. This note was sold to McClean & Co., on the 12th inst., but the alleged forgery was not discovered until yesterday. Officers Moon and Ruch arrested the accused, who was committed for Court.

AFRICAN M. E. CHURCH.

Eighth Day's Session of the Allegheny Conference—Formation of New Districts—Missionary Meeting To-night.

Conference met as per adjournment, Bishop Loguin in the Chair.

After the usual devotional exercises, the consideration of the Bishop's salary was resumed. The report was adopted.

The consideration of the report on the state of the country was resumed, and the discussion opened by Elder Cole, followed by Dr. Williams.

Other business demanding immediate consideration, the further discussion of the report on the country was laid on the table for the present.

The Conference then went into Committee of the Whole on Districts.

On motion the following places were constituted stations: Mission Chapel and Pittsburgh Chapel, Pittsburgh; Aylesburg Chapel, St. Louis; M. E. Church, Chicago; Brook and surroundings, Union Georges Creek and surroundings, Franklin, Litionville and surroundings, Hollidaysburgh and Blairsville.

Resolutions were adopted respecting Avery College and endorsing Prof. H. H. Garnett.

Arrangements were then made for the holding of a general missionary meeting on Monday evening, for the purpose of raising funds in aid of the missionary cause. Addresses will be delivered by Rev. Bishop Loguin, Rev. H. H. Garnett, Prof. O. L. C. Hughes and others.

The Conference then adjourned.

The Storm at Wellsville, Ohio.

WELLSVILLE, OHIO, July 31.—Messrs. Editors: We had one of the most violent storms here on Wednesday night that has visited this section of country for years. Noyes Circus was giving an entertainment that night, and so violent was the wind that the audience was greatly alarmed, as it was with great difficulty that the tent was kept from being blown away. Amid the confusion and terror which prevailed in consequence of the fierceness of the storm it was ascertained that the huge snake, the boa constrictor, had escaped from its cage, and it was not found for some time afterwards. Most of the audience ran out of the tent and took shelter in houses near by, and for a time the residences of ex-Mayor Gibbons, J. W. Cunningham and Samuel Bunting were almost filled with the admirers of circus performances, many of them completely drenched and badly frightened.

In the midst of the storm Capt. Bunting and the striped trowsered man (clown) did much towards preventing the tent from being blown over, or, perhaps, carried away by the wind, by holding on to the guy ropes, and Capt. B. is certainly entitled to the thanks of the people here for the efficient service he rendered on the trying occasion.

A Victim.—A very valuable dog, worth at least one hundred dollars, belonging to Anderson & Co., Iron founders, was poisoned on Saturday night. The meat was thrown over a high fence into the yard surrounding the main house of the firm on Water street. How much law was there in that act? None of the cast iron dogs in the same yard partook of the poisoned meat, and we suppose an officer will be detailed to throw in another dose and wait for them to eat it, but he himself had better look out for cold lead to help on his patience as the firm is in no good humor over the high handed outrage practiced upon them.

ONE OF THE MOST ASTOUNDING CURES EVER PUBLISHED—ATTESTED BY OVER FIFTY WITNESSES.

The remarkable cure of Miss Fisher, of Beaver county, is one worthy of more than a passing notice, especially when so many persons are suffering not only with diseases of the eyes, and partial or total blindness, but likewise with other chronic ailments which Dr. Keyser has treated with such astounding success.

The lady concerned was doomed to perpetual blindness, which through Dr. Keyser's skill was completely removed, the truth of which has been vouched for by a sufficient number of witnesses to establish the fact beyond all cavil. The subjoined letter from the young lady's brother speaks for itself:

DR. KEYSER—This is the list of names that I have to the cure of my sister, Christiana Fisher. They were all willing to put their names down, and were very much astonished to see that you brought her sight so soon. My mother sends her thanks to you; she says "you are one of the greatest men in the world." She says if we had not come across you she believes her child would not be living at this time. We all join in sending our love and respects to you.

S. P. FISHER,
North Sewickley.

We, the undersigned know of the cure of Miss Fisher, and bear willing testimony to the fact above stated.

ROUSE THE SYSTEM.

It is a sad thing to pass through life only half alive. Yet there are thousands whose habitual condition is one of languor and debility. They complain of no specific disease; they suffer no positive pain; but they have no relish for anything which affords mental or sensuous pleasure to their more robust and energetic fellow beings.

In nine cases out of ten this state of lassitude and torpor arises from a morbid stomach. Indigestion destroys the energy of both mind and body. When the waste of nature is not supplied by a due and regular assimilation of the food, every organ is starved, every function interrupted.

Now, what does common sense suggest under these circumstances of depression? The system needs rousing and strengthening; not merely for an hour or two, to sink afterward into a more pitiable condition than ever, (as it assuredly would do if an ordinary alcoholic stimulant were resorted to,) but radically and permanently.

How is this desirable object to be accomplished? The answer to this question, founded on the unvarying experiences of a quarter of a century, is easily given. Infuse new vigor into the digestive organs by a course of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Do not waste time in administering temporary remedies, but wake the system up by recuperating the fountain head of physical strength and energy, the great organ upon which all the other organs depend for their nurture and support.

By the time that a dozen doses of the great vegetable tonic and invigorant have been taken, the feeble frame of the dyspeptic will begin to feel its benign influence. Appetite will be created, and with appetite the capacity to digest what it craves. Persevere until the cure is complete—until healthful blood, fit to be the material of flesh and muscle, bone and nerve and brain, flows through the channels of circulation, instead of the watery pabulum with which they have heretofore been imperfectly nourished.

SECURITY AND COMFORT for the traveling community.
J. B. HARRIS
Safety Fire Jacket, Car Heater and MODERATOR.
For Smoke and Hot Air Flues, dispensing with the use of stoves and fires in or about the Passenger or Baggage Cars, with the attachment to graduate the heat to any temperature that may be desired without the possibility of firing the car or cars to which the Jacket may be attached. Having obtained of the United States Letters Patent for a Safety Jacket, which is warranted to resist the most intense heat that may be applied to it in the position and purpose for which it is intended.
It is a sure protection from accidents by fire, originating from defective flues or where iron pipes are used as conductors for smoke or heat. It is applicable to all piping that may become overheated, and is warranted to give perfect satisfaction where wood or other combustible material may be placed in close proximity thereto. I am now ready to apply my invention to stores, dwellings, factories, ships, steamboats, railroad cars, &c. Wherever pipes as conductors are made dangerous by being overheated and security desired, I will send on application right to manufacture or use the above invention. Also Territorial rights to such as may wish to engage in selling privileges either by State or county.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, July 31, 1869.

Business generally, although by no means brisk, is just about as active as is usual at this season of year; it is expected, however, that there will be an improvement soon after harvesting is over, and the indication at present are very favorable for a good fall trade. Pittsburgh manufactures are a little dull just now, and some of the large establishments, including several iron mills, have suspended operations, as is usual at this particular season, to take stock and make repairs, while others are still obliged to keep moving in order to fill small orders. Stocks generally are very much reduced, the fact that river navigation has lasted much longer than usual this summer, and consequently cheap freights, having drawn a good many orders here, that, otherwise, might have flowed in other directions. The shipments of manufactured goods from Pittsburgh the first half of 1869, were the largest, probably, ever known, though as a general thing, margins have been very light.

The weather has been favorable for harvesting during the greater part of the week, and it is probable that by this time the greater proportion of the winter wheat has been secured and considerable progress has doubtless been made in cutting spring wheat, which is usually later in ripening than the winter. While it is true that the wheat has been considerably injured in certain localities by the excessive rains, yet it is safe to assume that the yield will be an average, and probably considerably more than an average. Oats promise to be an unusually heavy crop, while Corn, in this section of the country, is said to be looking very well.

APPLES—Continue very scarce and with an active demand, prices are stronger and higher, ranging from $5@6 per bbl, for good to choice.

BUTTER—Is quiet and unchanged—20@25, for fair to choice.

BERRIES—Sales of Blackberries at $1,00@1,25 per box, and Raspberries at $1,75.

BEANS—Sales at $1,75@2.

BROOMS—Quoted as follows: No. 5 $6,50; No. 4 $6; No. 3 $5, No. 2, plain, $4,50, and market firm.

CHEESE—Sales common Western Reserve at 15@14; Ohio Factory and Hamburg 14@15; and Goshen, 15@16c.

CEMENT—Johnstown Hydrulic Cement is quoted at $2,25 per bbl.

CARBON OIL—Is dull but unchanged; sales of 50 or 100 barrel lots, at 27@28, and in small lots, 29@30.

DRIED FRUIT—Is very dull, and dealers generally are anxious to close out. Small sales of Peaches at 9@10 cts. for quarters, and 12@14 for halves. Apples, 10@13.

The wheat yield is expected to be one-third larger than usual, and an enormous hay crop will be harvested should the weather hold fair long enough.

Brigham Young—Another Version of His Conversation With Senator Trumbull.

The correspondent of the San Francisco Alta California gives the following account of the interview, on the 10th inst., between Brigham Young and the Chicago commercial party, which differs in some respects from the version sent to the Chicago Tribune:

At the interview of the Chicago commercial party with Brigham Young, which took place last Saturday, at Salt Lake City, heretofore noticed briefly by the telegraph, the Mormon President informed United States Senator Trumbull that "great lies" had been printed about the Latter Day Saints, by two vile men sent out from Washington as Government officers. "Now," said he, "we intend to send out some of the same sort, and when we do, don't believe more'n half you hear. We have been lied about enough, and will not stand it any longer. If the Government sends bad men here we shall just politely conduct them on a little trip to the boundary line of the Territory, and bid them go, never to return."

Senator Trumbull—"Well, now, Mr. Young, allow me to suggest to you, that before you do this, before you take such decided steps, that you communicate with President Grant and advise him of your intentions. I am satisfied that the President, who is a good man, will do you justice, and it would be better first to lay any grievances you may have before him."

Brigham Young—"Yes, and perhaps get the same treatment that we have always received Why, what did Mr. Douglas do, when King James (Mr. Buchanan) sent him to us at Nauvoo? He made, as it were, a treaty with us, as the Government does with England or any foreign country; promised, that if we would go away beyond civilization, we would not be molested. The result was, we were set upon coming here, and 5,000 of our men forced into a legion of soldiers to fight the Mexicans and leave our women and children to starve, and Buchanan said, 'Let them die!' "

Senator Trumbull—"You can depend upon a fair hearing in Congress."

Brigham Young—"What! take our papers and throw them under the table. Send more—under the table they go." [This was said with energetic gesticulation.] "As to our institutions, we know we are right, and polygamy, which you object to, was not originally a part of our system, but was adopted by us as a necessity after we came here."

Senator Trumbull—"I have no doubt that Congress has a right to legislate upon the marriage relation, and to regulate it."

Brigham Young—"Then why not legislate about the intercourse of the (unmarried) sexes?"

Here he went off into the question of slavery, saying: "Congress ought to have made a law compelling the master to treat his slaves well, and then I believe it would have been better than to abolish it."

Brigham then again spoke of the men sent out to them, and it was interpreted that he alluded to present officials, but said: "It's all right; we can take care of ourselves; Cummings was good enough in his way, for you know he was simply Governor of the Territory, while I was and am Governor of the people."

Senator Trumbull—"Mr. Young, may I say to the President that you intend to observe the laws, under the Constitution?"

Brigham Young—"Well—yes—we intend to."

Senator Trumbull—"But may I say to him that you will do so?"

Brigham Young—"Yes, yes; so far as the laws are just."

Rev. E. B. Tuttle, Post Chaplain, United States army, then said: "Mr. Young, may I ask you a question?"

Brigham Young—"Yes, sir."

Rev. Mr. Tuttle—"I would like to know how you came to settle just here and not at some other place?"

Brigham Young—"Well, we knew just where we were coming to before we came. We had heard of it through Fremont's account, where, you know, he speaks of losing a piece of glass out of his telescope; it was just back of here, on Mt. ——; and miners told us of it. It was supposed we were going to Vancouver's Island; we had no such intention. We sent a colony in a vessel round to California, with a view to locate there also. But we came here to Mexican territory, planted the American flag, and conquered us a home, and here we mean to stay." "Sirs," said he, "I expect to live to see the time we can go back to Missouri as freely as anybody and be undisturbed."

The New Ten-Dollar Counterfeits.

The following are the rules for detecting the dangerous ten-dollar counterfeits: The borders of the counterfeits match as well as the borders of the original. The engraving of the border is just as good, if not better, than the engraving on the genuine note. In the original the shading around the "10" in the medallion, appears like a fine net-work, and runs close up to the figures. In the counterfeit note this shading is picked up, and becomes coarse as it reaches the figures, forming a light streak or a circular haze, similar to that about the moon before rain. There is no haze on the genuine note. This is a slight point for detection. A clearer one is the fact that in the original notes, within the light circle running under the figure "10" there are three and a third dots on the left of the figure "10." In the counterfeit bill the one-third dot is missing. But an infallible mark of distinction is found under the left wing of the eagle. In the genuine notes are four distinct rows of feathers under the wing, in the counterfeits the rows of feathers are undefined, and this seems to be the only weak spot in the whole engraving. The dots after the initials of Spinner's name are no surety of the genuineness of the note. Some of the counterfeits have three dots, and some have not. It would be an easy matter to place these dots on the counterfeit plate.

The first counterfeit purported to be of the new series, No. 53, letter D; but there are others.

There is one marked No. 23, letter D; with a small figure "5" under the "D." The only difference between the two counterfeit notes is that the "53" has no periods after Spinner's initials, and the "23" has.

It is rumored that Mr. Spinner will order the destruction of the original plates and the issue of new notes.

The Situation in Tennessee.

A Nashville despatch says: "The Democrats are showing their hands all over the State, encouraged by the appointment of rebel and Democratic registrars, who pay no attention to the requirements of the Franchise Law. They are repudiating both the Senter and Stokes candidates for the Legislature, and nominating men of their own. The prospect now is that very few Republicans of any kind will get into the Legislature. There is a good deal of excitement in the city, and the Democratic elements feel that everything is in their hands. The next municipal election will take place in September, and they are already loudly boasting that they will not have in office a Republican of any kind. Some of the conservative newspapers are endeavoring to restrain their sanguine brethren, but it is like attempting to rule a whirlwind. The rebel Democracy seems bound once more to have its day."

Another dispatch says: The feeling against Gov. Senter in consequence of the shameful frauds in registration is growing more bitter and widespread. Even the Press and Times, Senter's chief organ, admits that the laws of the State have been trampled under foot, and that it will be folly to hold a convention for the purpose of enfranchising the ex-rebels, as they have all been enfranchised by the illegal and usurping action of Gov. Senter. The Republicans of Nashville, mainly heretofore favorable to Senter, held a meeting recently, and adopted strong resolutions denouncing Senter's violation of the law and constitution of the State, and declaring that the only course left to them is to vote unanimously for Stokes. The resolutions are being handed around for signatures.

The old rebel intolerant spirit is rife again. The consciousness on the part of ex-rebels that they have received their certificates in violation of law seems to have awakened the bad passions of their nature, and reports of outrages upon Union men and colored men in Maury, Madison, Dyer and other counties are numerous.

Some remarkable experiments have been made in France on the relative rapidity with which messages pass through a telegraphic wire and impressions are conveyed through the nerves to the brain; and the result established is that the electric message travels with a swiftness many thousand times greater than the physical sensation, which is transmitted only at the rate of thirty metres in a second. Thus supposing a whale thirty metres (about one hundred and three feet) in length to be wounded in the tail, a second would elapse before the brain would be informed by the nerves of the event, and another second would expire before the will of the brain could be conveyed to the caudal muscles and action be taken to resent the injury, thus leaving an appreciable interval for the escape of the offender. This theory is strongly opposed by Claude Bernard and other eminent physiologists, who affirm that the limbs can take care of themselves without instructions from the brain.

Cuban Fire Flies.—Very fine specimens of these magnificent insects have recently been brought from Cuba to the naturalists of Salem, Massachusetts. These specimens were brought alive from Cuba, having fed on sugar and water. The insects are from an inch and a quarter to two inches long, of a dark brown color, and the luminous emenations issue from two spots, apparently, upon the head, back of the eyes, but really situated upon the sides of the thorax or middle section of the body and upon the abdomen. The light is sufficient to allow a person to read when the insect is held near the printed page. It is stated that the light is so brilliant as to affect the sight, and when a person has looked at the insect for some time, other and artificial lights appear of a deep red.

A traveler in Paris having occasion for a haircutter, sent for one. At the appointed time an elegantly attired person arrived, and the gentleman sat down before his dressing-case to prepare for the operation. The man walked round his "client" once or twice, and finally taking his stand at some distance, attentively scrutinized the gentleman's face with the air of a con toisseur looking at a picture. "Well," said the traveler, impatiently "when are you going to begin?" "Par-don me, sir," was the polite reply, "I am not the operative, but the physiognomist. Adolph," he cried out, and a sleeved and aproned barber entered from the hall, "a la Virgil." With this laconic direction as to the model after which the gentleman's hair was to be arranged, the artist retired.

The Scotch Antiquarian Society have just received a donation to their museum of two interesting articles—the sea chest and a carved cocoanut cup which were the property of Alexander Selkirk, the prototype of "Robinson Crusoe." These were with him in his solitary residence on Juan Fernandez; and were brought home when taken off the island. The chest is made of a species of mahogany, and has Selkirk's initials rudely carved on it, and what seems to have been his number in the ship. The cup wes carved by Selkirk while on the island. The articles were recently purchased by Sir David Baxter and presented to the society. Only three other relics of Selkirk are known to be in existence—his musket, brown ware can and walking stick.

A correspondent of the Boston Advertiser says of Long Lake, in the Adirondack region of New York: "Fancy a village whose inmates had passed through the anti-slavery agitation, the war of the rebellion, and the suffrage campaigns, and known of the great apple of discord, the negro, only by hearsay. A family brought a colored nurse, a few years ago, to Long Lake, and the people from miles around came to the hotel to see her; looking for the first time in their lives on a black face."

It is no longer a secret of the chemists' labratory that clear gold syrups can be made from starch and sulphuric acid; that delicious wines and brandies can be made from beet root; that a barrel of peanuts can be transfromed into excellent coffee, that lard can absorb an immense quantity of water in certain conditions; that in fact there seems no limit to the adulterations that an intelligent and dishonest chemist can practice upon his fellow man.

Charles Rich, of New London, Wisconsin, has gone into the novel speculation of raising mink. He has a nice yard fitted up, and has already a half dozen young and old minks and will soon have a large brood. That it will be profitable, if he succeeds in raising the mink, all are agreed.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

☞ SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, SEAWEED TONIC AND MANDRAKE PILLS will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the livor and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens into the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well. This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. Schenck, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivaled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care,) that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Liver Compaint is one of the most prominent causes of Consumption.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Canker, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abcesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow, the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparation with the same remarkable success. Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Dr. Schenck, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 34 Bond street, New York, every other Tuesday, and No. 35 Hanover street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists. mw19:151-d&F

Blackberries will be unusually plenty the season commenced. So will tomatoes.

An Artist is to sketch the Linn Court this afternoon, if permission be obtained.

Snooks says an English greyhound recently poisoned attributed his death to fever and hague.

The Silver Letters on blue coats "C. P." do not stand for City Police, as many suppose, but for canine poisoner.

It is suggested to put the soldiers' monument on the base of St. Pauls old tower. It could be seen all around.

Linn's "Living Thoughts" contains nothing from the pen of Linn, but is a collection of other people's ideas.

Diminished.—The chances for Dimey, the victimized coachman on the gold speculation, of ever hearing of the confidence operators.

More Pittsburghers are absent at the watering places this season, than for any corresponding one for many years. A sign of good times.

The law breakers were quiet in Allegheny on Saturday night, and Mayor Drum's morning levee yesterday was attended by nine persons only.

Personal.—Rev. Dr. Paxton is in our city looking well and hearty. He occupied the pulpit of the First Presbyterian Church at Shady Side yesterday morning.

The Park Question excites considerable attention just now, inasmuch as the people will be shortly called upon to vote for or against a public breathing spot.

Obituary.—Mr. Jacob Boobyer, one of our oldest and most respected business citizens, died at his residence in Scott township, on Saturday, at the advanced age of eighty-three years.

Large Increase.—The books at the U. S. Collector's office show the revenue receipts for July, 1868, to be in round numbers $97,000, while for July, 1869, they foot up $224,000. Uncle Sam should be gratified at that increase.

A Big Crane.—Mr. David McGonnigle, of Chartiers township, on Tuesday last shot a large sand crane near the mouth of Chartiers creek. It measured seven feet from tip to tip, and is said to be the largest bird of the species ever seen hereabouts.

Heavy Defalcation.—Rumors are afloat of a heavy defalcation by the confidential clerk in a manufacturing establishment of this city. The amount involved is about $25,000. The matter is undergoing investigation, but as yet no arrest has been made.

Query.—The street cars were well patronized yesterday in both cities. Would it not be well for the Mutual Protectionists to attend to the patrons of these roads as well as the drivers and conductors? Is not the sharer of the plunder as bad as the thief?

A Man-Trap.—The board walk across the West Commons, Allegheny, from Marion avenue to Webster street, is in a very dangerous condition for pedestrians, and should be repaired immediately. Somebody may have a bill of damages to pay if the matter is not attended to.

Coroner's Inquest.—Coroner Clawson, yesterday, held an inquest on the remains of Catherine Hansell, a young woman, aged about twenty-five years, who died very suddenly Sunday at three o'clock, at her residence in the Sixth ward. A verdict of death from consumption was rendered.

A Turn.—"Its a long lane that has no turning," is exemplified in the case of Hugh Madison, whom Alderman Butler's police have been looking after since September last, for threatening to take the life of Sarah Maxwell. The turning came on Saturday, when Hugh was arrested and committed to jail in default of bail for trial.

Slight Fire.—Saturday about one o'clock the roof of a small outbuilding attached to a residence on Federal street, Pittsburgh, caught fire from falling sparks from the chimney, but the flames were extinguished before any material damage was done. In the excitement, some person foolishly struck an alarm, which caused the fire department to turn out. Their services were not required.

Personal.—Mr. Thomas F. Russell, of the Irish Republic, a journal of three years standing, published in New York, and devoted to the inculcation of sound Republican doctrines, is in the city soliciting subsciptions. We hope he will meet with generous aid from our Republican friends, and we can safely recommend the Republic as true to all the principles of freedom and equality, and an able exponent of Irish Republicanism in the United States.

The Dog War Wages.—It is contrary to law to distribute poison on the street. The police are enjoined by the Chief to deposit the buttons and wait till the dog eats them. A fight on Penn street on Saturday night waged, and the policeman on the beat, faithful to his instructions, waited for the dog he had selected for the dose to eat it before he could make his appearance in the scene. Hence, no arrests were made. Better that a dog die than that one bruiser be arrested—not better for the dog, but for the peace and order of the city!

Trial of a Steamer.—The steam fire engine Friendship, of Allegheny, was publicly tested on Saturday. The engine threw a solid stream, through an 1¼ inch nozzle, a distance of 208 feet, which was a creditable exhibit of capacity. The hose used in the test were the "Combination" and James Davis' patent, leather manufacture. The "Combination" bursted at 190 pounds pressure, while the leather stood successfully 250 pounds to the square inch. The test of hose was by the firemen regarded as of more interest than that of the engine.

Delinquent David.—David Bronson, a resident of Allegheny, losing all love for the attractions of his own fireside, concluded a few days ago to seek pleasure elsewhere, an idea which he immediately acted upon, by disappearing from the family circle and leaving his wife and children to "paddle their own canoe," as he expressed it. Mrs. Bronson felt that David's conduct was altogether improper, hence Alderman Hays, at her instance, issued a warrant for his arrest, on a charge of desertion. He is now "paddling his canoe" in jail, awaiting a trial at the next term of court.

OHIO PRESBYTERY.

Testimony for the Defense Continued—Those Doctor Books—Mr. Linn's Popularity—Publication of his Book—Close of the Testimony and Opening of the Arguments.

FIFTH DAY—MORNING SESSION.

Presbytery convened at half past nine o'clock and was opened with prayer by the Mederator.

The minutes of the preceding session were read and approved.

Rev. Mr. Collier, Chairman of the Committee appointed to take testimony, was called upon to report, and read the following testimony:

THE SUSPENSION BRIDGE.

Andrew Hartung, sworn—Am in the shoe business, on Federal street, Allegheny; last fall, on the night of the Democratic procession, I was coming to Pittsburgh from Allegheny City, between seven and eight o'clock: I came on the bridge between the toll gate and the first pier; noticed Mr. Linn speaking to a lady; she appeared to ask some question; did not hear the question at the time; then there was some man came up and struck at him and knocked his hat off; don't know whether he struck him or not; he came up from behind; the lady said not to strike him; she said that she asked the way to the depot or the cars, or something of that kind; do not distinctly remember what she had said; I did not see Mr. Linn offer this lady any any insult; she rather defended him; I spoke to Mr. Linn immediately after, near this place, on the bridge; I think the man who struck Mr. Linn was intoxicated; the man who was with me told me last night he could swear the man was drunk; I am a member of Rev. A. K. Bell's (Sandusky Street) Baptist Church, Allegheny.

LEWD PUBLICATIONS.

David B. Oliver, sworn—I reside in Birmingham; I spent about eight years in the Pittsburgh Postoffice; I think a portion of the time I was there Mr. Riddle was Postmaster in Allegheny; I was engaged in the mailing branch of the business, and from frequent handling we became quite familiar with the appearance of the packages that contained books, such as Mr. Riddle described in his testimony before Presbytery as covering obscene books; the reason I think they are the same packages is because he said he could detect one across the room; those books would not by some be regarded as obscene.

Q. What kind of books were they? A. They were books that treated on phyological subjects entirely, and I would not regard them as gratifying an obscene appetite at all, all the boys knew them quite well and paid no attention to them at all; the books were not generally regarded as obscene; there were books that were obscene, but you could not tell them across the room; we called the books in packages described doctor books; in my whole experience there I saw some one or other of the obscene books found out, but there was no characteristic by which they could be found out; there was a general get up about those doctor books that we could detect as soon as we saw them; the style of wrapping and putting up was the same as a general thing.

Q. Do you know of persons of good moral character having such books as described? A. Yes, sir; I have known them to have them in their possession and read them. Large quantities of these books passed through the mails. I have known persons to read them that would not seek after obscene books.

Cross-examined—Was not in the Pittsburgh Postoffice all the time that Mr. Riddle was in the Allegheny Postoffice; Was there I think a greater portion of the time.

Q. Will you swear that the books alluded to by Mr. Riddle were doctor books? A. I believe so. I would swear that they were to the best of my knowledge and belief. From Mr. Riddle's description and my own experience in the matter, you can judge for yourselves. The book Mr. Riddle describes is identical with the one I call a doctor book.

[Mr. Marshall objected to this testimony on the ground that it was an opinion of the witness.]

Q. Did you ever see those identical packages that Mr. Riddle alluded to. A. No, sir, not that I know of. Those books were such that we got every day. We got them as regularly as we did the New York Tribune.

Q. Do you know that these books received by Mr. Linn were doctor books? A. I don't know that Mr. Riddle gave Mr. Linn any book, of my personal knowledge. Am a member of the Christian Church, corner of Beaver street and Montgomery avenue, Allegheny City, Rev. Mr. King pastor. Did not hear Mr. Riddle's testimony; read it. For one of those packages that Mr. Riddle saw I suppose we saw a hundred.

TESTIMONY OF MISS CAREY, OF CLEVELAND.

Miss Nellie Carey, sworn—Reside in Cleveland; am a daughter of John E. Carey and was a member of the Westminster Church in that city; I joined during a revival in the winter of 1865 and 1868, during Mr. Linn's ministry; after Mr. Linn left, my mother and I left; took our papers to the Third street Presbyterian Church.

Q. How did Mr. Linn stand among the young members of the church? A. He was a great favorite with the young people while I was there; as far as I knew he was popular with the young ladies of the church; I do not remember ever hearing a word against him among the young ladies outside of the congregation, as far as I recollect; his popularity still continues among the town people, as far as I know; I have always resided in Cleveland, and my acquaintance is extensive; I know all the young ladies that Mr. Linn associated with I think.

Cross-examined—Some matters have come out in the Pittsburgh papers; I have heard a great many speaking for him, but none against him, I believe.

Re-direct—Mr. Linn frequently stopped at my mother's house, both before and since leaving Cleveland. I have often talked to Mr. Linn, sometimes alone. I never saw anything like undue familiarity with ladies. We withdrew partly on Mr. Linn's account; because of the manner in which Mr. L. had been treated and for private reasons. Mr. Linn was popular until the trouble in the church in Cleveland broke out, and then he was unpopular with but a few.

The Moderator directed that the testimony be recorded and that the case proceed.

James R. Foster, sworn.—I am a book publisher and book seller; I have recently published a book for Mr. Lynn; I had frequent conversation with Mr. Linn before taken hold of the matter; he never told me that Dr. Jacobus had examined the manuscript; he said that Dr. Wilson had examined it, and that Dr. Jacobus and others in the Seminary would subscribe for it, Mr. Linn handed me a list of subscribers to the book, on which Mr. Jacobus' name appeared; my agent left a book at Jacobus' house; the book has never been paid for to my knowledge.

I invited Mr. Linn to accompany me to a meeting of Public School teachers in Pittsburgh last spring; I met Miss Ella Smith there that evening; I first saw her speak to Mr. Linn on the street car going to the school house; she was accompanied by her mother; if I remember correctly she introduced Mr. Linn to her mother and probably her father. I don't remember what Mr. Linn said to her, but the greeting seemed to be pleasant on both sides. We all went to the school house together. I saw Mr. Linn with Miss Smith during the evening. I was within a few feet of them the most of the evening. I did not see anything improper in Mr. Linn's conduct toward Miss Smith. I did not notice anything on the part of Miss Smith that would indicate that Mr. Linn had wounded her feelings. On the contrary, she seemed quite pleased with his attendance, at least until the supper hour, when he left her to go down to supper with my sister-in-law. The school building, in which this meeting was held, is five stories high. The speeches were made on the third floor, and the supper was served on the first floor. The hats and cloaks were left on the first floor. The entire building was exceedingly crowded all over. I have known Mr. Linn from ten to twelve years. I have never heard anything against Mr. Linn's reputation until the Cleveland matter occurred, and what I heard of that was from Mr. Linn.

Cross-examined—Did you ever ask Dr. Jacobus to pay for that book. A. We sometimes send books to ministers and others who have not subscribed; the title of Mr. Linn's book was "Living Thoughts of Leading Thinkers." None of the books were delivered promptly; the book was circulated some time before Dr. Jacobus received his; I think the book was delivered within a month.

Q Did you understand this book to be published as Mr. Wilson recommended? A. There was about fifty pages added to the manuscript after Mr. Linn showed it to me.

Mr. Linn might have said something that I did not hear; there might have been a short time intervening that I did not see them together, cannot say however.

Re-direct—Am a member of St. Andrews Church. I think it is customary when books are sent as compliments to mark them as such. Subscription book publishers generally send with a book sent in that way a circular, and requesting the endorsement of the book.

Cross-examined—The book was published the last of April or the first of May. I can't say whether Dr. Jacobus' name was on the list when the manuscript was handed to me. His name was near the head of the list. Think the names of the Faculty were all together.

Direct—One of the motives for publishing the book was receiving the name of the faculty; the book was submitted to me, and Dr. Jacobus' name was fourth on the list.

Mr. McIlwaine—Was the entire manuscript submitted to you when the subscription book was presented? A. I think he added same forty or fifty prayers in order to make the book larger.

Direct—There was nothing objectionable or out of keeping with the general character of the book in what was added. It was satisfactory or I would not have published it.

Testimony approved.

Mr. Linn asked the Court to receive the catalogue of the Western Theological Seminary as evidence that he was a fourth year student.

There was no objection and the catalogue was received.

A letter was offered from Mr. Joseph Paul, of the Connellsville Session, addressed to the Onio Presbytery, refuting the charges made against Mr. Linn in that locality.

The Moderator ruled that the letter could not be received as testimony at this point, but might be read as a part of the argument for the defense.

Mr. McKaig.—Mr. Moderator, you see that we have a number of other witnesses that we might call, but we now ask the Moderator to order the defense to close.

Dr. McKinney.—I hope, Mr. Moderator, that the Court will do nothing of this kind.

Moderator.—Is this request made in good faith?

Mr. McKaig.—No, Mr. Moderator, only made according to the precedent established by the prosecution.

Dr. McKinney asked that the Court adjourn in order to give the prosecution an opportunity to procure rebutting testimony.

Dr. Allison, sworn—Last August Rev. Mr. Fields, pastor at Connellsville, came to me and said he desired to be absent and wished me to secure a licentiate or unemployed minister to take his place. I saw Dr. Wilson and he referred me to Mr. Linn, who he said would fill the appointment. I sent for Mr. Linn and he consented to fill the appointment. I never heard anything against Mr. Linn up to that time, except the Cleveland difficulty.

Dr. McKinney—Q. Will you state by what authority you published in the Presbyterian Banner that Mr. Linn had received a call to preach at Waynesburg?

Ruled out by the Moderator.

The defence here closed their case.

Dr. Marshall moved that the prosecution and defence proceed to sum up the testimony. Adopted.

THE ARGUMENTS.

Rev. Dr. McKaig opened the argument for the defence, and continued speaking until the hour of adjournment. The argument throughout was forcible, and the reverend gentleman succeeded in refuting all the charges made against the defendant. He was frequently applauded by the large crowd in attendance, showing that the points were well taken and that his remarks were appreciated. The speaker said that we are now engaged in a very painful case. He hoped that the members had not sought this trial, but have been compelled to take the step from a keen sense of duty. One thing that appears very remarkable, and which astonishes me, is the vast number of charges recorded on the paper I now hold in my hand. In all the annals of our Ecclesiastical Courts, from the time the first indictment was made until this one, has it ever been known that the charges made against any defendant has reached the remarkable number which this one has attained. It does look as if the prosecutors thought that all the charges were so small, so very small, that it required this long patching together of little charges before they could succeed in convicting the defendant. He then examined the charges, specifications and items in the presentment seriatim. He contended that not one of the items of specifications of the first general charge had been established. Most of these items had not been touched, although it was persistently alleged that they were all facts, and could easily be proven. Not a single item charged under the head of unministerial conduct has been proved. He then alluded to the specifications under the second general charge. He examined closely all the testimony that was offered under the charges bearing on want of veracity, contending that there was not one particle of testimony to establish any untruthfulness either in regard to attendance at the Seminary, the recommendations to his book, or his denial of receiving lewd publications through the Postoffice, and claimed that on these he must stand blameless before the Presbytery. He next touched upon the charge of undue familiarity with females, and his manner of argument on this point, and illustrations created much applause. When the hour of adjournment arrived the speaker had not concluded. Presbytery adjourned until two o'clock.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Convened at two o'clock. The minutes were read and approved.

Dr. Marshall moved to adjourn at half-past three o'clock, to meet at half-past nine o'clock on Monday morning. Carried.

Dr. McKinney, from the committee appointed to answer the protest of Mr. Linn, submitted the following:

ANSWER TO PROTEST OR DEMURRER OF MR. LINN.

1. The presentment on which Mr. Linn is being tried is precisely that which was adopted by the Presbytery, a copy of which was duly furnished him.

2. The nature of the case made it necessary that the charges should be somewhat indefinite, but they come within the provision of the book of discipline, which says "the times, places and circumstances should, if possible, be ascertained and stated," and under the testimony they assumed minute definiteness, and then all the time and facilities to bring counter testimony, which were asked by the accused, were fully accorded.

3. Chapter V, Book of Discipline, entitled "a process against a Bishop or minister," (Sec. VIII,) "nothing further is to be done at the first meeting (unless by consent of the parties) than giving the minister a full copy of the charges, with the names of the witnesses annexed," &c. Mr. Linn had a full copy and the names.

4. What Mr. Linn calls an "argument" in the charges, is but an effort to give them definiteness.

5. The presentment rightly goes beyond the limit of a year and the bounds of this Presbytery, because the charges are somewhat general in their nature, and the specifications extended backward, but the things noted had recently become flagrant. The more grevious are within a year, and are in our immediate region. The whole is a series of deeds connected by similarity; and a Presbytery's moral jurisdiction is over its own members.

6. The presentment is "inquisitorial" only in the view that it provides for investigating the truthfulness of the allegations therein stated and made.

7. There is no law requiring the "Prosecuting Committee" personally to wait upon the persons alleged to have been aggrived.

8. The presentment is based upon no "false issue." The issue is honestly, truthfully and precisely what the indictment states. This was abundantly manifested to the accused at the meeting of Presbytery in the early part of this month.

The so-called protest to which the foregoing is an answer, was not introduced to Presbytery till after the trial was commenced and Mr. Linn had pleaded to the charges, and he then said he did not present it as a bar to the proceedings initiated.

The protest was ordered to be received and filed.

Dr. McKaig then resumed his remarks. In referring to the Cleveland troubles, he took the opportunity to read a letter from Mr. Blackburn, of Cleveland, in which the writer stated that Mr. Linn had never been ordered from his house; they had not left the church because of any conduct of Mr. Linn. He also read a letter from the Stated Clerk of the Western Reserve Presbytery, setting forth that Mr. Linn's resignation had been accepted and recommending him as a faithful and zealous minister of the gospel. Dr. McKaig concluded his argument about half-past three. His argument throughout was forcible, couched in the most respectful terms, and was listened to with the closest attention by the members of the court, as well as by the large number of spectators present. He claimed that the committee had failed entirely, and urged an acquittal by acclamation as an act of justice.

When the gentleman had concluded, Court adjourned until Monday morning at half-past nine o'clock, with prayer by Rev. Mr. Beacom.

A Benedict's Troubles.

Entering the sea of litigation before the honeymoon is over, seems like rushing from serene happiness to the most abject misery, yet sometimes, in the course of human events, such a proceeding is necessary, of which the checkered career of John Adams furnishes an illustration. Sometime ago—several years—John married a daughter of Mrs. Lousia McKain, of Allegheny. The pair lived happily together until about a year since, when the marriage tie was severed by the demise of the lady. John mourned the decease of his companion, and remained a widower until within a few days ago, when he the second time entered the matrimonial estate. This action seems to have been against the will of his former mother-in-law, who, finding her remonstances in vain, determined upon it that nothing accumulated during the life of her daughter should be enjoyed by the new mistress of the mansion. To carry out this design, it is alleged, while the festal ceremonies were going on at the house of the bride, she gained access to John's mansion and removed everything movable in it to another house. It was not long before this circumstance became known, and John indignantly demanded their instant return. The demand was not complied with, and as a last resort he made information before Alderman McMasters on Saturday against his mother-in-law for larceny. Learning also where the goods were secreted, he caused a search warrant to be issued, when the suspected house was searched, the goods found and the lady arrested. She gave bail for a hearing and the case was held over, which will afford John abundant time for reflection upon the relative beauties of love and law.

Death of a Journalist.

On Saturday, Mr. Joseph E. Robinson, for many years connected with the Pittsburgh Press, died of consumption at his mother's residence, Sandusky street, Allegheny, after a comparatively brief illness. During the early part of the war he served in Knap's Battery. After the battle of Antietam he was left sick, at the hospital in Washington. He subsequently rejoined the battery in Tennessee, but did not again enter on active duty. Just a month ago he was prostrated with rapid consumption, and died at the age of thirty-seven years. He was conscious up to the time of his death and expressed perfect resignation. He was a genial, good-hearted man, and will be missed by many warm friends. He was buried yesterday afternoon, quite a large number of persons attending the funeral.

A Troublesome Neighbor.

People who engage in the practice of throwing stones at other peoples' children, threatening to kill them, and when remonstrated with by the parents add insult to injury by spitting in the face of the remonstrator, are certainly very troublesome and undesirable neighbors, and if such a course was pursued by Mrs. Jane Danover, of Boyd's Hill, against Mrs. Ann Handlin, that lady was perfectly justifiable in making information before Alderman Thomas on Saturday and causing a warrant for the offending Jane to be issued.

Felicities of a Married Pair.

Some twenty fast fleeting years have gone by, since Michael Folcort persuaded Mary Ann, a blooming and truthful maiden, to link her temporal destinies with his, by promising to love, cherish and provide for her until with one or the other, life's pilgrimage was over. Michael doubtless made his asservations of eternal devotedness in good faith, but alas for him and for Mary, neither calculated on the great deceptiveness of human nature, and the subsequent history of their matrimonial career developed their sad short-sightedness. A little incident transpired in their household on Saturday which illustrated the style in which Michael kept his promise. He is a coal miner by occupation, and returned home at an early hour in the morning, after a night of toil, to find no breakfast prepared for him. Incensed at this evidence of neglect on the part of his spouse, he manifested his wrath in a forcible manner, by seizing the poker and showering the blows thick and fast upon the head and body of her whom he had engaged to love and cherish forever, a striking demonstration of his fulfillment of that promise. The demonstration, or punishment, as Mary regarded it, was greater than she felt was just to bear, and with this idea in her mind and the assistance of a friend she reached Alderman McMasters office from her home on Mount Washington, and laid the facts before that official, which were embodied in an information for felonious assault and battery against Micheal, and upon which a warrant was issued for his arest.

Traveling Confidence Man.

Mr. S. R. Johnston, of the firm of W. G. Johnston & Co., made information before Alderman McMasters on Saturday against R. F. Smith for false pretence. Smith is a stranger in the city, having arrived here but a short time since, and put up at the St. Clair Hotel, registering himself as a resident of St. Louis. He represented himself to be engaged in the advertising business, and at once set about canvassing for advertisements for a show card. He was very successful, and succeeded in securing a number of cards from the most prominent business houses in the vicinity. When his list had been made up he contracted with Messrs. Johnson & Co. to print a number of copies of the large card for fifty dollars. The work was done, and at the designated time he called for them, but not having the money to settle the bill was refused them. He retired, but, it is alleged, returned again when no one but the foreman was present, and by giving him orders for the money on the parties represented in the card succeeded in securing about half a dozen. With these he then started around, quickly collected all the money from the various persons and departed, so that when the orders given to the foreman were presented they were not accepted, and the swindle became apparent. Hence the information upon which a warrant was issued. It is said that Smith is a swindler of this character by occupation, and had just arrived in the city from Boston, where he had successfully duped several parties. It is doubtful if he will be arrested, as he has in all probability left for other quarters.

Confidence Game and Forgery.

On Friday evening a game of confidence and downright forgery was successfully played on one of our leading Wood street business houses. A man named Henry, formerly attached to the office of the United States Marshal in this city, entered the store, where he owed a small book account of three dollars, and presented a cheque on the German National Bank for $350,00 in payment, stating as it was after business hours the cashing of the paper would be a great accommodation to him. The cheque was signed with what purported to be Gen. Thomas A. Rowley's signature. The cashier of the house was temporarily absent, and the book-keeper unhesitatingly deducted his bill and paid the $347 in cash and a cheque on J. T. Brady & Co. Henry early next morning presented the cheque at Brady's and drew the money. The forgery of Gen. Rowley's name was subsequently detected and information of the matter left at the Mayor's office, and the very experienced and highly successful corps of detectives are now endeavoring to arrest the sharper, who is well known in this community, and we patiently wait to see what success will attend their efforts. If dog poisoning can be forgotten for awhile, the probability is that the arrest will be made. It will be a new sensation at the Mayor's office if a criminal of this high grade be brought to justice through the efforts of our city detectives, and one not experienced for some time past.

Extortion by Hucksters.

Is it because our market house is rented out to hucksters, who engross all the eligible or accessible stands, that the prevailing high prices of fruits and vegetables are maintained? Pittsburgh and Allegheny are said to have the dearest markets in the whole country. We were in Uniontown on Friday and saw blackberries and whortleberries respectively selling for twenty cents per gallon. On the way down we saw probably one thousand gallons of these berries brought to the train to be sold in our markets. On Saturday we went to market to get some of this cheap fruit, and were asked various prices, from twenty to thirty cents per quart. We say such extortionate advances on the cost are criminal, and our municipal authorities owe it to the citizens to protect them from such imposition, if need be, by making the market stalls free to all venders from the country and driving out the unscrupulous extortioners.

The Grab Game.

A neat little game of grab was played on Penn street on Saturday morning, which, if certain allegations are correct, added ten dollars to the contents of Charles Garber's pocket book, but is likely to add considerably to his troubles. It is said, and E. J. Horton affirms it, that a bet had been made between Horton and a second party, and that a stakeholder had just received the money put up, when Garber, who was standing by, snatched it out of his hand and made away before any of them could prevent his escape. Horton, however, had no disposition to lose money in such a style, and accordingly made information before Alderman McMasters against Garber for larceny. The accused was arrested and gave bail for a hearing.

Sudden Death.

Mr. Thomas Dardis, an undertaker of this city, formerly identified with John McKeon's livery stable, was yesterday found in a dying condition in the carriage house of the latter establishment, corner of Grant street and Sixth avenue. He had been ill for several days previous, and on Saturday night laid down on a bench, where he was found. Medical aid was dispatched for, but before brought death took place. The deceased was a young man about twenty-six years of age, and leaves a wife and several children. Coroner Clawson held an inquest, which resulted in a verdict of "death from natural causes."
